PROGRAM

Col. Steven C. Maller, DDS - "Regeneration in Periodontics"

Dr. Maller will present a wide variety of information on periodontal regeneration. This will include a discussion of the historical background of regenerative procedures up to and including current concepts and techniques. Regenerative concepts will focus on guided tissue regeneration as well as guided bone regeneration. As dentists, we all appreciate the importance of maintaining our patients' dentitions in health, comfort, function and esthetics. In so doing, it is imperative to have a basic knowledge of regenerative techniques, whether you are attempting to regenerate periodontal tissues lost to disease or preparing a site for future implant placement. (1 hour CE credit)
